The First Blood Spilled Since the Opening of Oklahoma.

Claimant Shot by a Rival and Hastily Buried on His Claim.

Town Lots Certain-Conspiracy Charged in the Platting of Guthrie City-Indignation Among the Settlers-Scenes and Incidents in the Boomers' Land.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 23 .- The first mestead filed at Guthrie was by M. S. Cohn of Fort Smith, Ark. The first soldier to file a was a private in Companay I, Sixtleth Illinois Cavalry. During yesterday three town ites, Guthrie, Oklahoma City and Edmunds three homesteads and twenty-one soldiers' declaratory statements were filed. At 12:15 William Johnson, heading the little proce don at the land office, laid down a rough chart of Guthrie and filed it as a town site This was the first paper presented. Four clerks for the land offices from Washington arrived yesterday, two for Kingfisher and two here. Land Register Dille stated this morn ing that the Kingfisher land office would not be open until Thursday.

THE FIRST KILLING. About 5 o'clock yesterday evening a pistol eport across the cottonwood creek west of the depot outside of the town site reserve attracted attention. In a moment a man or horseback went west over the hill at a breakneck speed. Two Deputy United States Marhals went over, but were told that nothing had occurred. A reporter got a boat and crossed the stream however to investigate. In the bushes were lected half a dozen men. the ground and beside a haif made grave was stretched all that was left of S. T. Compis. A ball from a revolver had passed entirely through his breast, coming out of the back. He lived half an hour after being shot and was CONCEAL THE BODY, and only an assurance of the strictest confidence allowed the reporter there, and then he did not dare reveal his busithat of a man who had eaten dinner with him. There Compis said he and his partner had intered Guthrie on ponies. All the lots were one, and they swam the Cottonwood and staked a claim. As they were driving the last stake a fellow was discovered in the bushes on the bank of the creek. This man said he had already staked the claim. Compis and his partner offered to divide. To this the fellow objected, and warned them that he would shoot before he would divide. Compis did not believe this threat, and as he left the men he said he should stop on that claim.

HALF AN HOUR AFTERWARD Compla was shot by the first claimant as he stood by his pony, bridle in hand. His murderer got away before Compis' companion could realize what had been done. Believing secrecy the easiest way out, Compis' partner dragged the dying man into the bushes and said no one had been hurt. He would not give his name, and the peculiarity of the situa-tion prevented a searching inquiry. The dead man was about 30 years old and had black hair and eyes. When he left the eating tent he wore a gray flannel shirt, boots and pants, and had his coat strapped to his pony. Compis' companion took posses-sion of the murderer's outfit of a wagon and two horses. The man will never return as he knew his shot was fatal. The body was buried in the bushes.

SUFFERING FOR WATER. After 4 o'clock yesterday and all night there company refused to let the settlers take om the railroad tank for fear of ex-The water in the cotton from the railroad tank for fear of exhaustion. The water in the cotton-wood is red with mud and a water famine seems imminent. Hawkers went about the depot last night with buckets of water charging 5 cents a class. The engineers were beseiged by thirsty people for drinks from the engine tanks and many were accommodated. Up to midnight not a quarrel on the Guthrie town site had occured. The citizens' 4 o'clock meeting adjourned to 6 o'clock. The great anxiety of every one was information about the size of lots.

THERE WAS GREAT INDIONATION over the fact that the people had gone on the ground before 2 o'clock and it was the general sentiment that all such should be singled out and debarred. This would throw out many prominent men for George H. Clayton of Arkanass, and many others held a Guthrie meeting before 12 o'clock. There is also great indignation over the hundred or more deputy marshais who used their authority as a cloak to get on the ground and resigned at noon. They all have a lot. They are to be singled out and complaint lodged against them. A resolution was adopted to the effect that every invader should be complained of and efforts at once made to drive them out. The feeling is very strong in this matter. After criers had gone over the town a great crowd gathered on the highest elevation of the town to attend the meeting. Fully 2,000 persons were present. Ex-Mayor Constantine was selected to preside. Addresses were made by half a dozen or more prominent men from different parts of the country and a strong feeling was manifested against the premature settlers, which will very likely lead to the forfeiture of their claims. Frediminary steps were taken toward surveying the land and laying out the streets of Guthrie, etc.

The Arrival at Guthrie,

ON THE OKLAHOMA BOUNDARY, April 23 .-Lieut. Foster, who started the pilgr day coming via the Arkansas City trail, esti that backs them should be dispossessed and the whole town site placed in the fair and even reach of all.

It is almost certain, however, that for all its present prestige—for everything is going to Guthrie—there can never be a town of any importance there. The surrounding country is sterile, and with the exception of small pieces of bottom lands, can grow nothing but buffalo grass and cactus. The adjacent stream is small and alkaline, and well water is deep and scarce. The temperature bounds from blighting cold to withering heat, and there are long periods of drought and irregular occasions of floods and hurricanes.

As the sun went down little tents and unsheltered men dotted the region over an area large enough for an Eastern metropolis. There is covering for about one thousand persons on a liberal estimate, and the nights, after the roasting days, are actually chilly. Whether it rains or not, great suffering must be endured by the thousands of unsheltered. Arkansas City is filled up with great crowds from Northern trains, that will descend upon Guthrie in the morning. A break out of here will be sure to be the event in the next few days, as there are many thousands more here than can be supplied with food and shelter. Meanwhile, the rush continues, and the excitement is at a very high pitch.

THE LEGION OF HONOR MUDDLE,

Little Prospect That Drs. Chancellor and King Will Settle Their Trouble.

The particulars in the POST-DISPATCH yesterday of the squabble in Hyde Park Council, L. of H., over the suspension of Dr. E. Chancellor by Supreme Medical Director King, for neglect of duty, who had been elected for neglect of duty, who had been elected medical examiner of that council, was something of a surprise to many members of the Legion of Hopor outside of Hyde Park Council, and caused considerable talk. The matter is far from settlement. Dr. Chancellor has a host of friends in West End and Hyde Park Councils, who feel burst and inclined to show it. There are almost as many willing to forget the incident for the sake of peace and, harmony and a number of these are Dr. King's friends. It was learned yesterday the matter had been brought before the Supreme Council, Monday, April 18, and thrown out. The council will not consider it. From the remarks of a member it seems some are going to fly in the face of this and make uniter attempt three months hence when the will meets again. Hyde Park Council will

The Citizens' Committee

The was a meeting of the Citizens'Committe in the Reading Room of the Merchants' Ex change yesterday, presided over by Rev. S. J. Nicoolis. There was a large attendance and numerous matters of detail were considered.

Jerome Hill, Chairman of the Finance Committee, reported over $3,000 received and urged such of his committee as were present to hasten in the work of securing contributions. Five thousand dollars is needed, and the committee will secure it.

Geo. B. Thomson renewed the motion he made at the last meeting to appropriate $400 for an illuminated bicycle paradegat night, and the money was voted for the purpose.

An appropriation was made to cover the cost of uniform caps for the school children.

Every feature is in a very forward condition.

Orders Interested. Next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock a speci meeting of St. Michael's Branch, C. K. A., and St. Michael's Council, K. F. M., will have a joint meeting at the hall, Eleventh and Benton streets, to make arrangements to participate in the Washington parade.

Among the novelties of the parade will be the celebrated P. A. T. Club. The club will turn out its full strength headed by their own brass band of sixteen instruments. The arrangements will consist of Worthy High Chief W. L. Johnson and Past Worthy High Chief Philip Zepp on horseback, four mounted aides, 200 men on foot under command of Capt. L. W. Jones and Lieuts. Fred Gerber and Aroold Vennewitz, followed by the taily-ho coach, profusely decorated and under command of David Nicholson. The members will wear white plug hats, linen dusters, canes, bouquets and badges. When it is remembered that the average weight of the organization is 200 and over, a rare sight will be seen. The club has been practicing military maneuvers for several weeks past and expect to make a fine display. Among the heavyweights of the club are the following: Christ Krauss, Peter Wagner, Dan Siegmund, Geo. Weisenberger, W. C. Schramm, Clem Weick, J. L. Williams, Jas. Cronin, Hy. By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. RICHMOND, Mo., April 23 .- A destructive fire broke out on Main street, this city, at an early hour this morning, destroying the fine church building of the M. E. DIECKMAN'S SHORTAGE $68,000. Statement Made in the Probate Court-Notes From the Courts.

A Statement Made in the Probate Court—Notes From the Courts.

The attorneys in the Dieckman matter went into the Probate Court yesterday afternoon to close up, if possible, the estate and settle the accounts of all the heirs. B. D. Kribben represented Dieckman and presented the final settlements, and Leo Rassieur represented the heirs. The amount of Dieckman's short-age was there learned for the first time. It was dependant upon the allowances made Dieckman for the services he rendered in disbursing and on the assets charged against the bond account. The entire shortage is a little over $8,000, and over $40,000 of this is made up by the increase in the value of the bonds. When Dieckman made his last settlement, in December, 1988, he was ordered to invest certain funds in his hands in United States Government bonds which were then worth 116. Dieckman, as has been published before, falled to purchase the bonds, as the Court ordered, and since that time they have risen in value from 116 to 130. The question whether Dieckman should be liable on his bond for the amount of this increase was a difficult one to settle, but the attorneys finally came to the conclusion that he should be and the Court so ordered. In as much, however, as he was charged with the bonds as if he had disbursed the money he should have spent for them, Mr. Kribben asked that the commission for disbursing be allowed him and an allowance of 2½ per cent was made. Two of the heirs, Adele Meyer and Endolph F. Meyer, are of age, and with regard to them the estate was closed. The account rendered credited Adele Meyer with $6,000 40, but if the bonds had been bought the amount standing to her credit, would have been $6,235.37, so Judge Woerner ordered the latter amount adjudsed against Dieckman on his bond. The amount credited Rudolph F. Meyer according to the amount is $6,800.99, and Judge Woerner, siter figuring the presents value of the bonds ordered $3,776.43 paid him. The difference in these amounts is Dieckman's hortage to the bester, and $1,126.

rience in the Apian Harbor. ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 23 .- Ferdinand Mullan of Annapolis has received from his Commanding the United States Steamship Nipsic, a letter dated Apia, Samoa, March 25, in which he describes the disastrous storm during which the Nipsic was beached and other vessels were wrecked. Speaking of Thomas Johnson, his colored steward, was a resident of Annapolis, Commander Mullan says: "Poor Tom was drowned. I feel deeply his loss. He was ever faithful and de-deeply his loss. He was ever faithful and devoted to me."

Continuing he said: "The Nipsic is again afloat, but without rudder or propeller—the only man-of-war now afloat. I stood at my post throughout that dark, long stormy night, and saw death at my door two or three times. Oh, what an anxious time it was. Even the day after the night was dark. All is gloom now here and sadness. I am bruised in body and my cabin is all torn to pieces. It was filled with water. A German man-of-war struck us twice during the stormy night and it was dark, as dark could be, and seas as high as Annapolis State-house, but the Nipsic rides at her anchor in Apia harbor, though not by far the old Nipsic. I had no smokestack when I beached the ship. We are all sione af anchor and have the whole harbor. God be praised for a safe deliverance from the jaws of death. Nothing like this has occurred since the loss of the Spanish Armada in the English Channel. No talk of war here, but of the late hurricane and its disasters. Just to think, one German war vessel going directly under a reef, only one officer and four men saved from her. I was bruised, lame, weak, etc. I have had enough of Samoa."

senator Cuilom is Chairman of the committee, and his associates are Senator Hiscock of New York, Platt of Connecticut, Wilson of Lowa, Blair of New Hampshire, Reagan of Texas and Harris of Tennessee. Among the witnesses who will appear before the committee will be representatives of the American trunk lines, the Canadian railroads and of various commercial bodies. Although every section of the country is interested in the outcome, for as probably no city of size, except, perhaps Portland, Mie., has as much at stake in the matter as the new prosperous and beautiful city of Detroit, it naturally follows that the representative chosen by the commercial interests of that city is thoroughly and unique the with the commercial interests of the country. A. O. Raymond, who represents the Detroit Board of Trade and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of that city, arrived here yesserday. He stated that the commercial interests of Boston, Chicago, Portland, Milwaukes, Duinth, St. Pani, Minneapolis and Peoria occupied the same position as those of Detroit in the atruggle and that he believed those of this city would also be found opposed to tactics of the American full street, was considered the strong hold, Mr. Raymond said, of the American railroads and the fight would be between Wall street, and trunk-line stock against the commercial interests of the country. Were the fight before, but that was not the fight and every man who had given any thought to the subject knew it. Mr. Raymond said that the East, with the possible exception of this city, was of the american railroads and that the East, with the possible exception of this city, was of the american market.

"Why were the commercial interests of the country opposed to the exclusion of Canadian railroads?" was a question by the commercial three and trunk lines and the fight and every man well and the stream of the Stream this city, was of the same mind. Portland, like Detroit, would be paralyzed if Canadian roads were shut out of the American market.

"Why were the commercial interests of the country opposed to the exclusion of Canadian railroads?" was a question put to Mr. Raymond.

"Because," was his reply, "they regard the competition of Canadian lines as absolutely necessary to the maintenance of reasonable rates to and from the seaboard. They recognize the danger of being left in the unrestrained power of American trunk lines, the latter being in a position to make whatever rates they might jointly agree upon. The Canadian lines, it is well known to shippers in the West, have been difficult to control by their American competitors and have, as a rule, refused to join the combinations to make unreasonable rates, an attitude of which shippers in the West duly approve. Canadian roads have generally pursued an independent course. This may not be pleasant to American trunk lines but it is eminently satisfactory to the people out of whom American railroads make their money—the manufacturers and merchants—in short the shippers, or to go to the furthest step, the people."

"Why does the rest of the country join with the commercial interests of Chicago in this matter?"

"The competition of Canadian with American railroads is an advantage not only to the border—along which both run—and to Chicago—into which both have entry—but to the Northwest, to St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, and to interior points, because all rates from these points are based on the Chicago rate, which is the unit rate from all through points, consequently whatever tends to keep the unit rate moderate correspondingly benefits all other billing points. Take the case of Portland, Me., now a thriving city. If Canadian toads were debarred from competition American roads would make a rate to Boston, but from Boston to Portland the rate would be arbitrary.

The deposition from the ministry of the Rev. Henry Truro Bray, the Episcopal clergy men whose renunciation of his priesthood was published in Sunday's POST-DISPATCH was pronounced and recorded at St. George's Church this morning by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Tuttle. It was 10:30 o'clock when the action was taken by the Bishop. The service of holy communion of Tuesday of Easter week had just been concluded, and there were probably forty or fifty people in the church. Mr. Bray himself was not present. The Bishop had written him notifying him of what was to occur, but he did not put in an appearance. Nothing can be more simple than the service; it is merely an announcement by the Bishop that the priest has been deposed and the recording of such deposition in the church records.

Canon 5 of the Episcopal Church, under which the Bishop acts, makes it obligatory on the part of the Bishop, where the priest is deposed at his own request when there is nothing known stainst his character and no charges are pending against him, to announce that the action is not for causes affecting the clergyman's moral character. This is a recent rule of the church, as formerly all ministers were deposed in the same manner whether they were guilty of any misconduct or resigned of their own free will. The canon states that at least two clergymen must be present when the decree is pronounced. There were several present this morning, but only two were used as witnesses in the formal entry of the deposing of the clergyman.
Bishop Tuttle, from the altar, read the following in the presence and hearing of them and all people assembled in the church:

"In accordance with the provisions of canon
5, title 2 of the Digest, in the presence of Rev.
R. A. Holland, S. T. D. and Rev. Carroll W.
Davis, Presbyters of the church, I have on this twenty-third day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, pronounced and recorded that Henry Truro Bray, LL.D., a Presbyter of this diocese, is deposed from the ministry of this church.

"This deposition is for causes not affecting the moral character of the one deposed and diocese, is deposed from the ministry of this church.

"This deposition is for causes not affecting the moral character of the one deposed and follows upon the receipt of his renunciation of the ministery declared in writing accompanying his request to be deposed.

"DAN'L S. TUTTLE,
"Bishop of Missourt."

Then he made a formal entry of the matter and the service was over. The deposition does not take away the priestly character of the man deposed, but while he remains deposed be is ecclesiastically dead—that is without authority to act.

Maj. Budd was in fair demand, and advanced slightly. Bidding opened at 10, and after 400 shares had been disposed of, advanced to 1042. At that figure 300 shares were transferred, and at 11 the sales aggregated 900 shares. Letters have been received from the mine to the effect that an arrangement of the difficulties between Schwab and Zimmerman and the other stockholders seems probable, and that in all likelihood most of the suits now pending will be glamiused.

Phillips opened strong, $1.25 being bid and 800 shares selling at this figure. These sales had the effect of breaking the market, as 100 shares sold at $1.22½ and an equal amount at $1.20, trading closing at $1.20 asked, $1.17½ bid.

Gold King opened at 42½c, and 600 shares changed hands. Bidding then dropped to 41½, and after 500 shares had been transferred at that figure, 700 shares sold at 40, the closing quotation.

Central Silver was offered at 30; La Union was 7 asked, 4 bid; 100 M. I. sold at 28%; Adams was 25 bid, 26% asked; 100 Neath sold at 26%; Gold Run was 23% asked; 22% bid; 14 was offered for Jumbo, 16% asked; Wire Patch was 32% asked; 30 bid; 100 West Granite sold at 31.15, offered at 31.17%; I. X. L. was 8 bid, 9 asked; 24% was bid for Buckskin, offered at 5; Golden West was $1.10 asked, $1.07% bid; Granite Mountain was $49.50 bid; 10 was offered for Cariboo; 1,100 Pat Murphy sold at 40; Silver Age was $3.17% bid, $3.25 asked; 300 Pedro Consolidated sold at 17%; Golden Era was 12% bid, 15 asked; 3,100 Mary Foster at 3; Aztec was 30 bid, 31% asked.

A meeting of the St. Louis stockholders of the Concepcion will be held to-morrow after-noon. The stock was 9½ bid, 10 asked.

DETROIT, Mich., April 23 .- The Michigan Central Railroad will hereafter run no freight trains on Sunday except when absolutely trains on Sunday except when absolutely necessary for the conveyance of perishable goods and live stock. All other trains will be stopped at 6 p. m., Saturday, and will not start before 6 a. m. Monday.

President Ledyard said this morning that the company had been considering this matter for a long time and had finally determined to make the experiment. It will reduce the Sunday freight business fully one-half and give a large number of employes the advantage of one day's rest in seven. Mr. Depaw and all the officials of the Vanderblit system, he says, are in favor of Sunday as a day of rest.

The Senate is still considering the bill. An amendment is pending repealing the clause requiring that an election shall be held but once in four years, leaving it optional for it to be held as often as the County Courts may order an election. If this amendment should be adopted it will very much strengthen the high license or Deering bill.

HOUSE.

The House has worked off a number of bills this morning. In fact it has done more effective work to-day than any day of the session. Mr. Jewett introduced a bill repealing the present law in relation to the Bureaus of Labor and Immigration and uniting these two into one. The bill enlarges the jurisdiction of these of fices and appropriates $15,000 to carry out the requirements of the bill. It provides for the appointment by the Governor of a Labor and Immigration Commissioner at an annual salary of $2,500 with a clerk whose salary is fixed at $1,000.

The struggle between the property holders in the vicinity of the Polo Grounds and the friends of base ball has been going on for about two years and the lovers of sport have so far been able to prevent the cutting up of the grounds of the New York club, but the action of the Governor to-day ends the struggles, and the property-holders are finally victorious. The managers of the New York club felt sure they could prevent the destruction of the grounds, and accordingly have made no arrangements looking toward new grounds. They have the choice between Staten Island and the Jersey Flats.

The status quo will in all probability be preserved until the expiration of the charter of the St. Louis Gas Light Co. which will occur in 1890. At that time and not before, a reorganization will be effected and all will be operated under the Laciede charter. It is the present intention to combine electric lighting and fuel gas with illuminating gas. Many patents are coverediby the purchase, the United Gas improvement Co. having large holdings of this kind. Common stock to the amount of $20,000,000 will be issued in addition to the preferred stock.

The LACLEDE COMPANY.

Capt. John P. Reiser, President of the Laciede Gas-Light Co. this morning. 'I have nothing to say,'' he remarked in reply to a question, ''n fact there is nothing to be said as far as regards the Laciede, matters are in the same condition that they have been for some time past. All I can tell you is that the sale has not yet been completed.''

"How many miles of mains have you?"

"That is usually underestimated. We have a died largely to our mileage lately and have a little over one hundred and thirty-one miles of pipe, all in excellent order. About 60 per cent of our gas is sold at $1. Our capitalization is $3,500,000."

"Is there any truth in the report that the existence of the Laclede charter has largely increased the value of the trust certificates?"

"Of that there can be no question. Without the Laclede charter the stock of the other companies at the present time and under the present conditions would not be worth anything like what it is."

'Then there is no question that a consolidation will be effected?"

GAS TRUST MEXING.

W. H. Thompson was busily engaged at the Bank of Commerces this morning in giving information to the holders of certificates who called in response to the postal cards sent out by him. Some few expressed dissatisfaction with the terms proposed, but the great majority were perfectly contented. "There is little to be said," remarked Mr. Thompson. "The sale meets with the approval of the great majority of the stockholders, and there is no doubt that the terms will be accepted; they are higher than those offered at the meeting held some weeks ago. The syndicate that holds the option is practically the same as that which holds the Laclede option. Those who want cash can have it, but the certificate holders have the privilege of exchanging their stock for an interest in the new company. The interest of all stockholders will be given to one over another."

SIGNING THE AGREEMENT.

The office of the President of the gas trust agreement was filled all morning by the holders of certificates who desired to sign the contract of sale. At 3 o'clock President W. H. Thompson was seen at the Bank of Commerce. "I have been at the gas office nearly all day," he said, "explaining the situation to the stockholders and receiving signatures. We only commenced this morning, and a majority of the stockholders have not had time to append their names to the agreement, but there is no doubt whatever that far more than enough to secure a control will do so. The deal is practically closed."

"Who are the purchasers?"

"That I cannot say just yet."

Two clerks were busy all afternoon receiving signatures, and nearly all expressed themselves as more than satisfied with the terms offered.

THE NEW MINISTER,

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. NEW YORK, April 23 .- Sir Julian Paunce ote, the new English Minister, who arrived on the Etruria Sunday, was sufficiently recovered from the fatigue of his voyage after a night's rest at the Brevoort House to see ewspaper men yesterday. Sir Julian is a typical Englishman. He is over six feet tall, well built, with the appearance of an athlete and is in striking contrast to his predecessor, and is in striking contrast to his predecessor, Lord Sackville, who was under-sized. His face is clean shaven, with the exception of carefully trimmed side whiskers. He is partially baid and his hair and whiskers are nearly white. He is just 60 years of age, which is considered young for a statesman in England. Sir Julian is very courteous in manner, and his voice has the rich mellow tone of a man accustomed to public speaking. The suavity of his bearing, and general appearance are not unlike Chauncey M. Depew.

"I know I shall like America," Sir Julian replied. "True, I nave had scarcely a chance to see anything, but I have met so many Americans in England and heard so much of your country that I do not feel like a stranger."

Americans in England and heard so much of your country that I do not feel like a stranger."

Regarding the questions in dispute between this country and Great Britain, Sir Julian so-ke with diplomatic reserve, probably having in mind Lord Saekville's fate.

'I shall not venture to give my opinions on political subjects," he said. "My position in the foreign office at home made me familiar with the details of the fisheries treaty and the extradition treaty. I cannot say whether another Commission will be sent here to consider either of these questions. The fisheries dispute is probably the most serious, but I am here with the most pacific intentions, and hear with me the cordial good will of Her Majesty's government. We have only the kindliest feeling toward America in England and I am confident that I shall find it reciprocated here. The newspapers have published more or less accurate accounts of my career. I was educated a barrister, have been Attorney-General, Chief Justice and under Secretary of State in the foreign office in London. I have had a wide experience in diplomatic matters and have traveled pretty much all over the world excepting on the Western continents."

"Did you meet Mr. Blaine when he was in England?"

all over the worst continents."

"Did you meet Mr. Blaine when he was in England?"

"Yes," he replied, "I was present at a dinner given to Mr. Blaine in London, but I did not have an opportunity of conversing with him, as his attention was engaged by people of more importance than myself."

"How was Mr. Lincein's appointment received in England?" ceived in England?"
"I left so soon after his appointment that I had no chance to observe. The first expression was rather one of inquiry. I have no doubt that he will receive a cordial reception Sir Julian dined with Whitelaw Reid last evening and will go to Washington this morning. He expects to return to England in August for his family, consisting of his wife and four daughters, three of whom are in society while the other probably will make her debus in Washington.

"Fascination" has several glaring faults.

and not a few inconsistencies. Mr. Buchanan plays fast and loose with dramatic license in the plot and its development. It lacks naturally strong dramatic situations, and is excessively improbable. It is not based on the probable or the life-like, but is apparently Buchanan's imagination.

The essential incident of the plot is the change of costume from female to male by the heroine, Lady Madge Slashton. Lady Madge is the impulsive child of nature in England, but wealthy and high-bred. She is desper ately in love with her betrothed, Lord Islay, whose name has been connected with that of Mrs. Delemere, an adventuress in London. In order to learn her flance's true characte dent, athletic young woman, determines with the rejuctant consent and aid of he brother, to don male attire and as a wealthy London fast life and learn the truth about Lord Islay. She gos to London as a young man, attends the opera and clubs, is introduced to Mrs. Delemere, inaugurates a des perste flirtation with her, goes to a wind supper at her house, where she meets a party of disreputable men and women, make violent love to Mrs. Delemere, quar rels with her lover and finally, dashing a paol of cards in his face, calls him a villain and of cards in his face, calls him a viliain and a soward. She thus carries off the part of a stunning young man, unravels a plot to ruin her fiance, thwarts it and, although only disguised by her change of costume, escapes detection by her most intimate friends.

It is needless to analyze this incident to show its improbability or even impossibility. It is thoroughly abourd as a phase of life. Peg Woffington might commit such a freak, or some foolish or bad girl might try it among strangers with brief success. A virtuous, high-bred, although athletic lady would not; her brother would be the last man to consent to it, and she would be detected instantly. More than this it would be useless, having a brother to perform such an office for her.

Among the other characters there is a disreputable, ancient Duke, whose chief mission is to deceive his wife; an inanely silly and unsophisticated clergyman, Rev, Mr. Colley, who gets into all kinds of boxes in his endeavor to shield the Duke and other people; Count La Grange, a French adventurer and criminal; an Israelitish money lender, who enters the society of the fast set with his wife; an English military dude, and several ladies of doubtful reputation.

Beyond the fancifulness of the motive Mr. Buchanan is not entirely happy in his work. He strangely mixes high comedy and melodrama in the play, most of the situations are thoroughly artificial, and there is a manifest lack of skill and ingenuity in the development of the plot. The author shows poor judgment and violates good taste now and then.

The part of hoydenish, impulsive, rough but werm-hearted Bessie Fairfax is played charmingly by Miss Blanchard. The girl of the mining camp is pictured as natural as life, and with a piquant humor and artistic finish which make the part a creation. The baby and the way Bet handles him are features of the entertainment.

The play is one of the best of its kind, with an interesting plot and much strong human interest, pathetic and humorous.

The company is fairly excellent throughout with some particularly good people. It includes J. F. Pike as Alex Fairfax, H. C. Lewis as Jack Mason, H. A. Claire as Duncan Lemoine, Chas. J. Greene as Max Wayne, W. J. Melville as Bixby, Chas. Benner as Flynn, Louise Reming as Ethel Gray, Heien Cheswick as Mrs. Boggs and Edna Reming as Jack.

Four Persons Arrested Charged With a Con spiracy Against a Street Railway, By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, April 28.-Lawyer Arthur P. Car Judgment and violates good taste now and then.

To illustrate: Lord Islay, the lover, loses the sympathy of the audience by being involved in a deep flirtation with Mrs. Delemere while engaged to Lady Madge, and then, in order to render him solid again with Lady Madge, the dramatist makes him weakly lay bare his whole heart in a rhapsodic description of love to Charles Marlow, with whom he has just had a bitter quarrel and by whom he has been grossly insulted. Some of the comedy is forced. The clergyman, who is in love with Lady Madge, is made by her to propose to her friend, Arabella Amhurst, in her presence, and is prompted by her in his declaration of love. These are a couple of instances showing lack of spontaneity and genuine dramatic skill in the construction of the play. of spontaneity and genuine dramatic skill in the construction of the play.

Mr. Buchanan has undoubtedly sacrificed much to the plan of making a dual role for Miss Tanner. But accepting the improbability tained by the play. The strongest point lies in the suggestion of character types in the parts and in the amusement and interest which is worked out of them, and out of the unusual situations evolved from the actions which hold the attention, and bright entertainment.

Browns as he or no other catcher had ever done before. His throwing to bases was a marvel of accuracy, and all foul tips seemed to find lodgment in his hands. He handled all kinds of pitchers with equal case, and astonished the base ball world by catching in nearly every game throughout the season. He was rarely ever hurt and when he was it was always a slight injury. And more remarkable than all he took to hitting the ball and became a very fair batsman. Bushong's eatching was the base ball sensation of the year. Kreig, who had given so much promise and from whom the Brooklyas expected so much, proved a rank failure and was given his release inside of two months. Of the three Cleveland catchers Bushong was the only one who ever amounted to anything after leaving the club and Mr. Von der Ahe secured him as a gift. Both Briody and Kreig, who were regarded so highly and cost their purchasers so much, proved failures. The Brooklyn management, who thought so poorly of him as to give him to the Browns for nothing, afterward purchased

Nor has this been Mr. Von der Ahe's only lagky strike in the catcher line. The beat playing Tom Deasley ever did was while with the Browns. He was atterward sold to New York for a large sum, but was never of any use to them and was finally dropped out of the feam. While with the Browns, however, he had no superior in the country and when he was sold it was thought his place could never be filled. Deasley's fondness for drink always made him a troublesome man to handle. Bushong, who succeeded him, excelled him in every way. While the 'Doo,' as the ex-Cleveland catcher was called, was with the team Mr. Von der Ahe picked up Jack Boyle, a young, untried catcher. He was put in a few times, but did so poorly that Bushong was made to do all the work. Finally the latter was badly injured and everybody predicted the club would lose the championship. Boyle had to be put in to catch and to the surprise of all he proved fully as capable as Bushong and broke the latter's remarkable record by catching in forty-four games in succession. Bushong was sold to firooklyn, as stated above, and Boyle retained and the latter is now conceded to be the better catcher of the two, having few equals and no superiors in his position.

No less remarkable has been Mr. Von der Ahe's good fortune in securing pitchers. He got George McGinnis for nothing and for a few years George was one of the best pitchers in the Association. Then for a little money he secured Foutz, who had been very successful in minor leagues, but was an untried quantity so far as the older associations were concerned. How remarkably was, everybody knows. He was sold to Brooklyn for a large sum, but his pitching days were over as jMr. Byrne soon learned, and the lean David is now covering first base for the team. His batting makes him a valuable man, however, and even while pitching, which is supposed to militate against batting, he always ranked high in the batting records. Through Foutz, Mr. Von der Ane purchased Caruthers' release for very little money. Foutz was pitching for the Bay City (Mich.) team when secured by . Novel Will of a Lady Once Well Known

The last will of the Baroness de Fannenburg, lately put on file in the Probate Court, contains this bequest, which reads somewhat

"All the rest and residue of the estate shall be applied to the endowing, founding and establishing an asylum for the good, welfare and benefit of poor young white Protestant children, and of poor old Protestant white men, and of poor old Protestant white men, and of poor old Protestant white women. Said asylum to be established in the city of Lexington, Ky., and to be called the Hunt-Grush Asylum, in memory of my grandfather whom my mother loved so dearly. The children and old men and old women for whose special benefit the above asylum is to be founded shall belong exclusively to the States of Kentucky, New Jersey and Maryland."

The deceased Baroness had a heart for sympathy and philanthrophy but remained none the less clear evidently on both the color and geographical lines.

Further on, the testatrix sets aside the sum of $50,000, directing her executor to expend it in the purchase of a lot in Spa, Belgium, and in the erection upon it of "a chapel and vank, panelled and pawed with marble, to contain the tombs of my mother, my brother and my own, and cause their and my own remains to be interred therein."

Furthermore she appropriates the additional amount of $7,000, "which shall be invested in United States bonds, the interest of which must go to maintain said chapel in good order, under the supervision of the pastor (and his successors) of the English Church at said town of Spa."

THE REMAINS OF THE FATHER of the Baroness are not to join the family in the Belgian village, but will very properly continue to rest here, the scene of his brilliant busy services far back in the ploneer era. In Bellefontaine Cemetery the loiterer looking through an environing coppe of vigorous caks and elms has his first glimpse of a sightly eminence, liberal in size and inclosed with a high iron railing. It contains only the one monument, a slender shaft in the middle of the grounds, worn and grimy from age, but with the brief story on the base attill legible. The very solitude of the old column in so large a lot arrests the steps of the wayfarer and he reads:

"Here lie be applied to the endowing, founding and es-diese. His tar hat given one second base and he is so dissipated that nothing could be with him, and he has never amounted to image since. It was the place of the Clevacity of the time of the country o bock. The Baroness was an only daughter of Capt. George F. Skrother, a Virginian, and dashing politician of his day, her mother having been a Miss Theodosia Hunt of the prominent, weaithy Hunt family in Lexington. Her grandfather, John W. Hunt, a millionaire of the carly days, was a life-long friend of Henry Clay. The dead Baroness was a cousin of Gen. John H. Morgan, the famous Confederate cavalry leader. Mrs. Morgan is now living, a widow, in Lexington and she in was not forgotten by the Baroness, who be queathed her for life an annuity of $5,000.

Both Capt. Strother and his wife were prominent members of the society circles of fifty years ago, and among the lingering octogenarians of our national capital the brilliancy of their entertainments are still gone over on occasion. The bright Porter Crayon, whose sketches enliven the pages of our current magazines, is a member of the Strother family. The Strother became at once engaged in the politics of the new town and State; his services in the enactments of the Legislature surviving largely in our present statutes.

Miss Sailie Strother, the late Baroness is well remambered still by the surviving beaux of her period. She was beautiful, graceful, witty and when occasion called for it bitingly sarcastic. Some of her striking repartees are still told in the talks over our old times.

Early in the forties, Capt. Strother being dead the mother and daughter married an Austrian baron, De Fahnenberg. Neither ever saw America again, but lived alternately in France, Belgium and Italy. The mother died about the year 1882 and the daughter two years after.

The extension of the Olive street cable lin south to Maryland avenue and west to Forest Park has stimulated a great deal of inquiry for sligible building sites all along the road. The eligible building sites all along the road. The influence of this improvement is shown upon property for several blocks upon either side of it, but in no section adjacent to the line has the juquiry for ground and the sale of lots been so marked as in the vicinity of McPherson and Taylor avenues. McPherson avenue is only two blocks north of the cable on Marygreat altitude, making it a splendid locality for observation, and healthful. McPherson is an eighty-foot street, and although desirable for observation, and healthful. McPherson is an eighty-foot street, and although desirable on that account, too, for residence sites its lots were the last in that progressive quarter to enhance in value. Long after Maryland and Berlin avenue lots had advanced to $40 to $70 a foot, ground between Newstead and Taylor on McPherson went begging for buyers at $25 a foot. Less than two months ago a lot was bought there at that price and sold a few days afterward at an advance of $5 a foot. Attention then seemed to be attracted to the locality, and a few days later John Dwyer bought several hundred feet at the corner of Taylor and McPherson at $51 a foot, and Joseph A. Duffy purchased a large plat at the corner of Berlin at $41 a foot. Since then he has resold a portion of the Taylor avenue front at an advance of $10 a foot to a party who is now preparto put a fine house there. On Sunday last H. Hiemenz, Jr., reported the sale of 150x150 feet of ground on the north side of McPherson, situate about 100 feet west of Taylor, at $42 a foot, from Richard R. Medley to W. S. Cobb, a non-resident, who purchased for investment, his idea being to build three elegant residences upon the site. MORGAN AND COOK AVENUE SITES.

George Gauss has purchased a plat of 210½ feet of ground on Morgan street at $35 a foot from John Dwyer. Donovan & Co. negotiated the sale of the premises which extend to the depth of 150 feet along the west line of Pendeton avenue on the south side of Morgan street.

Adolph Rammelkamp bought a 25x162 foot lot on Cook avenue, north side, west of Whitleer, at $37 a foot, F. L. Stuever being the grantor. Another sale indicative of values in that locality was also consummated by Donovan & Co. from Patrick R. Cain to Otto Uirich at $35 a foot, the ground being a 25x150 foot lot situate on the north line of Page between Whittier and Pendieton. An adjoining lot was sold at the same price to James Amillette.

BACON STREET DWELLINGS AT AUCTION.

Improved Bacon street property was tested under the hammer late yesterday afternoon and the result was highly satisfactory. Tanife & Gay conducted the sale and the way they managed it brought out quite enough spectators and bidders to make the context for the property very spirited. The premises offered consisted of four gouble brick detached tors and bidders to make the contest for the property very spirited. The premises offered consisted of four double brick detached houses occupying about 38x120 feet of ground each. They are arranged in flats, the rental from each house being $46 a month. The Northern Central line and the Clitzens' Cable road on Grand avenue both run within a block of the property situated between North Market and Montgomery streets. When bids were called for several parties responded, but the first two houses numbered 2513 to 2527, inclusive, Bacon street, were purchased at $4,565 each by D. J. Havden for Josenh Fran. two houses numbered 2013 to 2027. Inclusive, Bacon street, were purchased at $4,556 each by D. J. Hayden for Joseph Ryan. The next two houses adjoining and numbered 2531 to 2537, inclusive, were purchased for $4,510 by John W. A COMPTON HILL MANSION SOLD.

The sale of quite an ancient piece of Compton Hill property was consummated to-day for $24,000 by the firm of Rutledge & Horton. The premises belonged to D. W. Haydock, and the house, a very large old-fashioned structure of fourteen rooms, at the northwest corner of Lafayette and Louisians avenues, was among the earliest improvements erected in that quarter, renowned for its aristocracy in ante-bellum times. The lawn around it fronts 220 feet on Lafayette avenue, and Mr. Rutledge says the lot extends through to Henrietta street, a depth of 270 feet. This property was sold to S. S Scott of Hill mansion Mr. Scott traded Mr. Haydock, the carriage maker, the two new stone-front houses occupying 70x150 feet of ground at the southeast corner of Park and Jefferson avenues. These houses, Mr. Horton says, are renting for $1,800 per annum. They were taken at a valuation of $20,000 in the trade, the balance being paid in eash.

Morris, who has interested himself in the case of Harrington, Kinney and Molles, held in $200 ball to await the action of the Grand-jury for burglary, pushed his way past Deputy Kirby to the cage just before the case was called, and made considerable disturbance by his loud conversation with the prisoners. Kirby ordered him out and he asked permission to say one word more. A few minutes later Deputy Hardwig, who is a man much smaller than Morris, came into the cage and told the intruder to leave. Uttering an offensive epithet, Morris sprang at the deputy, and before he could be restrained he struck and kicked that official several times. Deputy Kirby came to the rescue and dragged Morris before Judge Campbell, who, not anowing the man nor the nature of the assault, ordered his release. At the time Hardwig was not thought to be much hurt, but later in the day serious internal injuries became manifest, and he called a physician to attend him. Had Judge Campbell kind how the circumstances Morris would, beyond doubt, have been sentenced to from three to six months' imprisonment for contempt of court, but the deputies are consoling themselves with the fact that they have a clear case of assault and battery against the man, at the trial of which Judge Campbell kind here. Pennsylvania Railroad from Philadelphia for New York, sixty odd, after midright last in ight, arrived here in due time this morning. They were not required to pass through Cast e darden for inspection, the authorities at Philadelphia having made all necessary examinations. Most of the passengers who came here departed for their homes, or the homes of their friends in this city, Brooklyn and vicinity. A few whose destinations were else where were taken to the Hotel Danmark, at No. 34 Greenwich street.

Olaf Wuglund was one of the few Englishepaking people in the party. He is a fiorist and has been in America before. In conversation with a reporter this morning he made a stetement which has not yet appeared in print in connection with the casualty. He was told that his remarks were important and detrimental to the steam ship company but he adhered to his statement. He said that hefore the accident occurred—the date he could not recall, but thought twas the 1st or 2d of April, one of the Rorwegian immigrants told him that he had overheard a conversation in the officers quarters. One of the ship's officers had said to the others in the apartment that he thought the vessel would never reach New York. Her machinery was in bad order and had not received the care it should have beford the steamer sailed. Her pumps were broken and in case of an accident would be found of little service.

"I'm afraid the Donmark," the officer is reported to have said, "will meet the fate of the Geiser."

The Geiser was a vessel of the same line sunk of Nova Scotia by a collision with the Thingvalla about a year ago.

Wuglund further said that the vessel's coalboxes were after on two occasions before her machinery gave out. The first fire occurred about 1 o'clock on the night of the 2th of March and the second about 3:30 in the afternoon of the following day. The passengers heard of both fires and showed more uneasines over the comparatively slight accidents than when the vessel became totally disabled. Wuglund was loud in his praise of t

I shall fine you $25 and costs, and you stand committed until every cent of it is paid," said Judge Cady in the First District Folice Court this morning, when the evidence had been submitted in the case against Philip Bauer for disturbing the peace. Bauer is a striking carpenter, and he was arrested last evening on the complaint of George Gray, 8320 Lee avenue. It seems that a number of workmen employed by Contractor Bonsack on a dwelling in process of erection in North St. Louis refused to strike with their brother carpenters. Yesterday about noon Bauer went to the building and endeavored to intimidate them. Gray, who is Bonsack's book-keeper, was present, and he remonstrated with the intruder, ordering him to leave the premises. Bauer then set upon Gray and beat him badly, for which of fense he lingered in durance vile until this afternoon, by which time a number of his friends had raised the necessary collateral, and Bauer was released.

The area of low pressure noticed yesterday morning in the extreme Northwest has developed into a well-marked barometric depression, central in Dakota. The general course of low barometer is nearly east and accompanied by light rain. Rain is falling at several stations on the upper lakes and in Minnesota and Dakota. The wind has changed in this section from northeast to south under influence of the low barometer in the West and will probably bring cloudy weather, with light rain through the Missouri Valley and the Central States. The high barometer, with clear, cool weather has moved aimost directly east, and Ohio, Pennsylvania and the Eastern States are now enjoying our fine weather of yesterday. The prospect for this section for the next twenty-four hours is cloudy, warm weather, with a possibility of light rain later on.

graph to the POST-DISPATCH. New York, April 23.—A special from Buffalo, N. Y., says: The aged widow of Gen. G. A. Scroggs was this morning married to James Albert Stitt, a dry goods cierk 22 years old with whom she became acquainted less than a year ago. The wedding was originally arranged to be celebrated to-day in St. Thomas' Church, New York City, by Rev. John Thomas' Church, New York City, by Rev. John U. Brown, an old friend of the Soroggs family. For some reason not known here, but suspected to be a disinclination on the part of Dr. Brown to officiate, the arrangements were altered and the wedding took place in St. Paul's this morning. Mrs. Scroggs is said to be 67 years old but she claims to be younger. She did not look over 80 as she swept down the aiste of the Cathedral this morning clinging to the arm of her youthful and much less robust lover. Stitt has lately resided at Mrs. Scroggs' elegant home in Pearl street. He is above the medium height, dark complexioned and has a full neavy face, set off by a neat black mustache. There appeared to be less than a score of years of difference between the two. Only a few friends of the couple were present. John Stitt, brother of the bridegroom, who is a Toronto business man, and Mrs. Elmer H. Whitney, an intimate friend of hirs. Grover Cleveland, were the witnesses. The couple left for New York on a West Shore morning train and will spend their honeymoon in Eastern clites. Mrs. Scroggs' fortune is estimated at $300,000.

Panama Co. and a POST-DISPATCH correspondent called upon him yesterday to learn the exact status of De Lessepa' "greatditch."
"In order that you may understand how things are now," said Mr. Slaven, "it is necessary to go into ancient history a little. Up to the present time, the French have spent on the Panama Canal some thing near $250,000,000. the Panama Canal some thing near $250,000,000. For that they have fifteen miles on the Colon side practically finished. That is the portion present time the canal exists there and is thirty feet deep the whole way. It is not quite completed because in places the banks have slipped, but it could be completed in a month. From the end of our contract to the beginning of the Culebra sec-tion could be finished in a short time, as the ground is easily worked and at its highest point is only 56 feet above the level of the sea. The Oulebra cut is the sticking point. Into it the company have poured money like water. old company failed an effort was made to have the Government help it out. When that failed a plan was set on foot by which a new company was to be formed and take over the unfinished work, all the contracts, the plants, etc., and go on. The old company was composed of poor people, investors who held one or two shares. They had not lost confidence in De Lesseps, but as we used to say in Callfornia 'they had gone busted.' De Lesseps poured the money into the canal faster than those people could save it up. No banks or heavy capitalists were investors and the financial institutions. Then came this scheme of the second company. It was to go ahead with the work, complete the canal and take a fair percentage from the receipts. All that remained over was to go to the stockholders of the old company. Of course this was merely an easy way of letting the people down who have spent the $250,000,000. The amount they would get under the arangement would never trouble them. In the second scheme, the capitalists were interested. Headed by the Credit Foncier and backed up by such institutions as the Comptoir d'Escompte the money was to be raised. The arrangements was almost complete when the failure of the copper syndicate startled all France. The Comptoir d'Escompte nearly went down, and the way in which the other banks were interested and their tears of a run was best shown by the manner in which they come to the assistance of the Comptoir d'Escompte nearly went down, and the way in which the other banks were interested and their tears of a run was best shown by the manner in which they come to the assistance of the Comptoir d'Escompte nearly in copper. It is worse than any of the old mining swindles of the coast. It's the Willedst kind of speculation. So it comes that there are no more people in France to put up money. De Lesseps 'busted' the small investors and copper 'busted' the small investors and copper 'busted' the small investors and copper because in the first place they are too hard up and in the second I think De

The news came from Foster himself, in a private letter addressed by him to an old acquaintance on the Exchange and malled in an obsoure town in Mexico, where Foster has been since his memorable flight from this city. It was last summer, it will be remembered, that the startling disclosure was made that he had been systematically robbing the gratuity fund of which he was the attorney, and the very day on which the matter was made public he negotiated a loan of $10,000 with an up-town bank and disappeared. Until the receipt of his letter not a word has been heard of him and his hiding place was a mystery. Pinkerton's
